FOUR MONTANA PREP GRIDDERS COMING TO UNIVERSITY OF MONTANA

Four more Montana high school football players have joined the ranks of others planning to attend the University of Montana next fall.

Bob Blush, 6-0, 190-pound halfback and linebacker from St. Ignatius, has accepted a football scholarship at the Missoula school. Blush was also the top member of last year's Mission Bulldog basketball team.

Joining Blush will be Don Schoening, outstanding at Darby High School in football, basketball and track. Schoening is a 6-3, 210-pound end.

Also planning to attend the University is Emmett Cleary, 6-1, 210-pound guard who played high school ball at Butte Central. Cleary, sidelined last season after the first game, was a starter for the Maroons during the last half of his junior year.

The fourth newcomer to Montana football will be Allan Eyre, fleet halfback for the Columbia Falls Wildcats. The 5-10, 175-pounder was a starter on the Wildcat basketball contingent which competed in the State Big 32 Tournament earlier this year.

In track, Eyre ran a close second in the sprints to Wildcat teammate Cork Hill, who will attend the University of Montana next fall on a basketball and track scholarship.
